Citation elements in order:

1. Primary contributor: Anthony Funnell (Presenter)
2. Publication date: 22 October, 2009
3. Podcast title and description of form: World Wide Views on Global Warming [Audio podcast]
4. Producer: Andrew Davies (Producer)
5. Program title: Future Tense

Document Example:

!Future Tense banner

World Wide Views on Global Warming

Recently 'ordinary citizens' from 38 countries took part in a global ideas session called 'World Wide Views on Global Warming'. The session was intended to inform decision makers ahead of the forthcoming Copenhagen conference on climate change. We hear from the Australian organiser and two participants.

Presenter

Antony Funnell

Producer

Andrew Davies
Proper Bibliographic Reference Format:

- Bibliographic references are double-spaced and indented half an inch after the first line.
- List the primary contributors in the usual author position and use parentheses to identify their contribution.
- For an episode, use the same format as for a chapter in a book. List the producer in the editor position.
- Use sentence-style capitalization

In-Text Citations:

Citations are placed in the context of discussion using the primary contributor’s last name and date of publication.

(Funnell, 2009)

Alternatively, you can integrate the citation into the sentence by means of narrative.

Funnell (2009) highlights a number of climate change issues discussed at the Copenhagen conference.